

ROADMAP – The Dacaro Fanatic Sports Fan NFT Collection

The Dacaro Mission

To create unique and visually stunning sports-related NFT collections that consist of team sets starting with major league baseball, then the NFL, and the NBA. To create collectability and appreciation in value over time. To create a community merging the worlds of sports, crypto, and NFTs with the bizarre, sick, and twisted art of Dacaro.

The Major League Baseball Game – The Drops and the Competition

There will be 3 Playoff Games of 9 innings each and a single World Series Game. The collector with the most NFTs at the end of the World Series Game will be declared the winner and Dacaro MLB world champion. That winner will receive a large collage as the “prize” that will contain 12 NFTs and will be 12,000 x 9,000 pixels in size. All NFTs must be sold for the competition to be considered complete.

Each inning will drop 9 unique NFTs but never complete sets for a single team. The sets for each team will be spread out over the 3-game playoff series.

There are 30 teams in major league baseball, and there will be 9 unique NFTs for each team dropped during the 3 playoff games, so that totals 270 unique NFTs. Here is the set for the Chicago Cubs so you can see the art.

Becoming a Team Owner

The goal for the avid collector will be to "own" a team. To own a team, you must buy all 9 NFTs for that team, and those acquisitions could include the secondary market during the playoffs. Team owners will be awarded a bonus NFT for every NFT they buy during the World Series Game. The World Series Game will also be 9 innings but will consist of 3 NFT drops per inning.

The Story

The Year 1921

The most intense geomagnetic storm of the 20th century occurred over a 3-day period in May.

Weird.

The massive electrical current unleashed upon the planet Earth ignited fires worldwide, including one near Grand Central Terminal, and bolts from outer space became known as the "New York Railroad Storm." This is true; you can look it up. Some say it was caused by an extraordinary coronal mass ejection hitting the Earth's magnetosphere. Others say it was caused by an alien reconnaissance party to soften us up before landing.

The World Series

Five months later in October, John McGraw's New York Giants, dedicated practitioners of the dead-ball era's "inside game," played the New York Yankees, "the Bronx Bombers" whose strength was the power game exemplified by none other than Babe Ruth, who had a great season that year, hitting 59 home runs, 171 RBI's, and a batting average of .378. The Giants beat the Yankees, however, 5 games to 3. The series was broadcasted on the radio heard around the world. These radio waves went into space.

Decades went by as the radio beams traveled into space, eventually reaching the Aliens.

2021

Sometime in the last year or so, these strangers from a strange land visited Earth but are invisible to humans. A super classified top secret special staked encrypted video NFT file on an underground blockchain, one made of titanium or, heretofore undiscovered metal, revealed this fact. During their visit, they discovered sports, went to a game, and got drunk on beer which made them temporarily visible.

Apparently, these aliens had so much fun; they visited all 30 major league baseball parks.

2022

That brings us to now, the year 2022.

I have been chosen as the emissary for this alien art or whatever it is. That's me, Dacaro, the chosen one. Go figure. Anyways, I am deciding on which marketplace to bless the world with these artifacts that are just out of this world.

The first drop of these NFTs will be during the major league season, exact date TBD, so please stay tuned and sign up for the drop alert

here. Which team will drop first? We don't know. We have to find out from the aliens when they are sober.

Update: We have just been privy to a leaked homeland security document that disintegrated after we read it, but it alluded to a scoop that these aliens may have attended NFL and NBA games also, if you can believe it. We will keep you posted on this rumor as more information becomes available from our top-secret classified G-man sources. Owners of baseball NFTs will get some cool perks for the NFL season. More on that later.

The History and Future of Value of Sports Card Collecting.

Let's start off this discussion with the fact that a Honus Wager baseball card sold for $6 million in August 2021 and a Mickey Mantle card for $5.2 million. No shit. Look it up. The Dacaro NFT/cards follow in their honor, bringing unique and collectible sports art to the blockchain, a chain store near you, or you can even hang it on your chain link fence around your RV.

The origin of sports card collecting goes back to the 19th century and the tobacco tycoon James Buchanan "Buck" Duke. This is the dude that founded Duke University in North Carolina, in the heart of tobacco country. He inserted pieces of cardboard into packs of cigarettes to stiffen them during shipping. At first, he printed advertising on one side and the picture of a famous actor on the other. The competition noticed, and Duke's competitors added cards to their smokes too. Eventually, these clever other dudes figured out that customers liked baseball stars the best, and the rest is history. Think of it now, a little piece of cardboard eventually sells for 6 mil.

Enter The Blockchain

So based on all of that, we get to drunk alien inspired, one of a kind, baseball trading cards for each team that look something like this >

Cool, huh? They will be unique NFTs, of course. Think of it this way; baseball radio leads to aliens leads to space travel leads to invisible aliens in ballparks, leads to aliens getting drunk on Budweiser leads to an Earth AI leads to a digital artist leads to NFTs on the blockchain leads to kick ass collectibles. That's where you wearing your Metamask come in.

Utility

Collectability

The first and foremost utility for you is the collectability of the art. We are merging the world of sports card collecting, its fantastic history of economic appreciation, and rarity with the blockchain. Every piece of art is a unique creation.

Heroes as Characters in the Metaverse

Heroes include transformative art based on real superstars as well as invented players not based on real people. Once you buy the NFT, you can use it as your avatar or in the metaverse or where ever you want. Hey, tattoo it on your girlfriend's _____. She'll love you forever. Or not.

The Complete Set Goal

As mentioned above, the first phase of the master collection is Major League Baseball and a set of 9 unique NFTs for each team. The value of owning the complete set gets you bonus NFTs in the World Series. In addition, what will be the value of owning the New York Yankees or the Chicago Cubs complete sets, for example, over time? Think about it. If you love your team and you are in crypto, this is your centerpiece in the sports world. Look at the value of Top Shots, and you can see a future of appreciation of your prized asset... maybe.

Here is another possibility; a whale owns 8 of 9 of his or her complete set, and you hold the missing piece... Bingo.

The Club House

Not the app or the website known as Clubhouse, but a new clubhouse within the Dacaro metaverse, universe or some other verse. Perks, merch, a virtual land for avid team fans, membership. Yeah, membership. You buy an NFT from the original set or future team-related NFT releases; it gets you lifetime membership in this aforementioned clubhouse deal. More on this later.

Future Leagues

Yes, Aliens like the NFL and the NBA. Owners of the baseball NFTs will be on the whitelist for presale specials for future leagues.

Charity

We are contemplating what and who to donate to once the collection sells out. Right now, we are thinking about Little League baseball at LittleLeague.org. Who doesn't love the tee-batters hitting the ball then running straight to second base?

Events and Giveaways

More on this later.
